New message from Peter Merola about Jacque Fresco

Update: A Message from Peter Joseph –

Friends, a lot of weird talk and speculation has emerged with respect to the relationship of TVP and TZM. I work as a global coordinator for The Movement and will not be altering the need work for that.

In fact, up coming is the Zeitgeist Media Festival which should be fantastic. We already have some large celebrity interest.

Regardless, given my public position, I am subject to attack from both sides.

Sadly, even people who support TVP in an often nearly blind obsessive way come up with ways to attack me due to my self-less perseverance and ability to bring this info to different circles in a productive way.

So, I want all those in this situation to remember one thing: without TZM, TVP doesn't exist – it has nothing but ideas and has no viable method to bring it to light. It takes community to do that. That is the point of The Movement. For 30 years they did little to progress. I still ask... what the hell have they been doing for 30 years?!

The problem was they need younger people who understand the zeitgeist and how to affect it, in part.

And with regard to my “lack of understanding” as was carelessly stated by Fresco. I have over 80 hours of recorded personal conversations with Jacque and 10 notebooks on him alone. In fact, I likely have the largest single documentation of this person in existence and I spent 2.5 years doing nothing but research on these issues... so I can admit I am bit insulted by the insinuation that I am “doing my own thing” irrespective of TVP.

For example, the first thing I noticed when I met them is that they have a few books and dvds... but with no technical sourcing or real details at all. It's simply too vague. My job was to un-vague it and get it truly technical/detailed- hence ZMF/Orientation Video/PDF. I think I have done that well and that info is now out there in a coherent way. Please note- I have written literally everything in TZM database online-pdf-video-website, etc.

However, as of now, since I do respect Jacque and his years are limited, I am going to also respect his grievance, regardless of how impulsive and unfounded it is- and refer all public appearances to them and we can see how well they do on their own.

My loyalty is to a train of thought...not gurus or entities... not Fresco, or anyone for that matter. Follow the data- not the people. Its the only way. Ego is the enemy of progress. If people here really want truth and a new world... it wont come from a single person or project.

This was posted April 15th 2011 on a youtube video as its information, the video is from BigSteelGuy who is a known Youtube fan of TZM and TVP. The video is a radio address of VTV's entitled " The Zeitgeist Movement is NOT going away- Stop buying into the Hysteria" which I am not going to directly link on here because it sucks as a video, I am only interested in the comment added as its information.

What is extremely interesting are a few things which he says that fall directly in line with all the complaints critics and skeptics of TVP have repeatedly said online for the last 2 or more years...and I am going to highlight

Point 1: “Sadly, even people who support TVP in an often nearly blind obsessive way”

Even Peter is beginning to publicly acknowledge the fanaticism and blind following people have of TVP

Point 2: “without TZM, TVP doesn’t exist – it has nothing but ideas and has no viable method to bring it to light.”

Even Peter is publicly acknowledging that TVP does not have any means to get its dream city started, all it has is ideas and no actual method to put it into practice.

Point 3: “For 30 years they did little to progress. I still ask... what the hell have they been doing for 30 years?! ...when I met them is that they have a few books and dvds... but with no technical sourcing or real details at all”

Funnily enough all the critics have said the very same things, they have had over 30 years in this subject and they have achieved absolutely nothing, so for Peter to finally acknowledge this publicly is important.

Point 4: “My loyalty is to a train of thought...not gurus or entities... not Fresco, or anyone for that matter. Follow the data- not the people. Its the only way. “

Critics of the movement and TVP have all said this constantly, where is the data, what does TVP actually have ? Why are people treating Fresco as a guru, or even Peter for that matter when they all have nothing to offer up but words ? Peter himself is beginning to acknowledge this point at long last.

Point 5: “If people here really want truth and a new world... it wont come from a single person or project.”

Again another important point critics of TZM made all along from the early days, and that is TZM should have never concentrated on TVP alone and become an activist arm for a single profiting company, It should have always been more open and diverse in its public presentation of ideas to make things better from all areas of the globe. This means that TVP was not any more important than any other company or group of people who were leading the way on ideas with technology and society. TZM should have always carried this out in its media campaigns and forum ideology, this mistake is possibly one that should have been rectified much earlier on when critics brought this to them directly.

1. Peter is a very intelligent person who has continued to learn along the way – and will continue to learn going into the future. I hope that The Zeitgeist Movement will increase the general ability to organize volunteerism.

I think that the movement will continue to encourage people to think about living in a new way... and perhaps begin living in a new way.

- o I guess that makes all the critics who said these things about 2-3 years before Peter could grasp them geniuses.

That's my favorite part. Let's all build these magic circular cities full of robots, computers, and machines where we all be be able to live a life of leisure in access abundance and sell the world on the idea. We'll figure out how to do it as we go along. (And if anybody questions us we'll just tell them we're using the scientific method.)

/facepalm

- o Yup when I was a forum member I used to constantly bombard them with these queries along with many other members who have long since left of their own accord, as I did.
They simply did not know how to deal with us, instead they chose to avoid our questions and keep the focus always on how Jacque knew everything and was the only one able to change the world.

Pure fecking nonsense and those of us who questioned them knew they only had circular logic going on.

Tanktop calls it a day and throws in the towel after realising Jacque has really insulted him and his friends, and Peter backs him up and demands an apology from Fresco and Roxanne but it does not come.

I would like to point out that Noel has been the technical backbone of this site and The Movement from its onset. If it wasn't for his interest in the direction, the site's development, team creations, ZDAY and other such projects, alot of what has been accomplished would not have been done.

Noel, I have emailed Roxanne with the serious point that they need to issue a public apology to everyone. I dont even care about the issue with me... It's about basic Movement moral.

I have received no response... no response at all, in fact, since this issue has occurred.

6. After all that time they were complaining about RBEF, RBOSE and anyone else going independent a "splinter group", they become one themselves.

LoL

- o Bet you have been laughing your ass off about this mate, I think it is probably one of the funniest news items this week. Beats anything funny thats happened in other news outlets for me anyway, I have been sat watching and laughing at all this. The way things turn around and the antagonists viewpoint suddenly becomes the voice of clarity is quite fun.

All the things we said are now what they are starting to say in public haha.

"All the things we said are now what they are starting to say in public " "After all that time they were complaining about RBEF, RBOSE and anyone else going independent a "splinter group", they become one themselves." But we knew this was going to happen.. it had to... its just fun to be able to stand around as say we told them so... and its quite ironic.

Well, cheers... i'm celebrating over here... lol
